VENTION.
A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 23d of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.
Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominees of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, MILWAUKEE, February 13, 1880.
A State Convention of delegates representing the Republican party of Wisconsin, and of all who will co-operate with them in supporting the Nominees of the party, is hereby called to meet at the Capitol in Madison, at twelve o'clock M., on Wednesday, May 28, 1880, for the purpose of placing in nomination an electoral ticket of ten electors to be supported by the party at the next Presidential election, and also to select twenty delegates, (two from each Congressional district and four from the State at large), to represent the Republican party of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago on the 23d of June, A. D. 1880, and to transact such other business as may be determined.
Each Senate and Assembly District is entitled two delegates in the Convention.

Tilden's health and candidacy will make a political corpse of the Democratic party.
It now looks as if the Democrats will be in the hopeless minority.

There seems to be a contest between the Legislature of Massachusetts and Congress as to which will hold on the longest. Congress may come out ahead.

The sage of Grandfather, with his "fading health," and his determination "not to be a candidate," still continues to be on top, and the party underneath.

Mr. Tilden's health permitted him to carry the Syracuse Convention by a majority, and thus will astonish those Democrats who have been trying to make it appear that he was a physical as well as a political corpse.

The people of Michigan are evidently of the opinion that the honor is a sufficient compensation for the Governorship of that State. The proposition to increase the Governor's salary from $1,000 to $3,000 a year failed by a vote of nearly two to one.

The Whitaker investigation still drag-along, and the board of inquiry is no wiser now than it was when it began its work.
If the board is unable to prove that the cadets did not inflict the injuries upon Whitaker, it will not prove that Whitaker did it himself.

Senator Burrows, of Madison, who has been in Washington for a week or two, has returned home, and brings the intelligence that John E. Edrad, late Chief Clerk of the Assembly, will certainly be appointed Collector of the port of Milwaukee, to succeed the Hon. John Nizze, whose term of office will expire in May.

The debate between Senators Carpenter and Blaine on the Geneva Award, was the finest bit of "sparring" that has been heard in the Senate for a long time. Carpenter being a constitutional lawyer of almost matchless power, seemed to have the advantage of Blaine, but both came out of the contest with honors.

It is asserted that Senator Voorhees has spent $25,000 in proving that the negro exodus is due entirely to the intemperate treatment of the negroes in the South. It will be remembered that he started with the investigation for another purpose, but failed to accomplish that purpose. He expected to work up a Democratic document for the campaign of 1880, but instead, has made a good Republican campaign document.

The Lick House, in San Francisco, is one of the most elegant hotels in the United States. Its grand exterior, its enormous size, its magnificent and finely proportioned dining room, and beautiful hall, have been the boast of California. But the days of glory for the Lick House have departed. It was too costly a hotel for San Francisco, and the splendid dining room with its dazzling finish, will be locked up, and the house will hereafter be used for nothing more than a lodging house.

Things have changed wonderfully within the past few years concerning the social condition of the colored people. In Worcester, Massachusetts very recently, a colored woman was employed by the school board of the city to teach white children.
This may be considered a radical step, but it is explained by the fact that she passed a

VANDERBILT'S TRAP.
Appalling Catastrophe at the Madison Square Garden in New York City.

The report published in the Gazette on Monday, stated that the special committee appointed by Governor Smith to examine into the affairs of the State Hospital for the Insane at Madison, would begin work next Monday. It will sit with open doors, will employ an expert bookkeeper, and engage a short-hand reporter to take the testimony. This committee should make thorough work of the investigation. For a long time there has been suspicion that the management of the State hospital was not strictly honorable, and it must be conceded that these suspicions seem to have some foundation. Now let the special committee go to work and see what is the matter, and if there have been any frauds or crookedness let the people know it, and if not to publicly proclaim the facts and exonerate the board of trustees.

ANOTHER CATASTROPHE
Appalling Catastrophe at the Madison Square Garden, New York.

New York, April 21.—An accident of a fatal character, and which caused intense excitement, occurred at Madison Square Garden to-night. The Hahnemann Hospital fair, which opened a week ago, was in progress, and there were about 800 people in the building. At 9:30 o'clock half the front of the building facing on Madison avenue gave way, the fall falling outward. A part of the roof also fell in with a crash. This portion of the building was used as a dancing hall, and as the picture gallery of the fair. It is not at this time known how many persons were killed, but one body has so far been taken out of the debris dead and one wounded. Two horses in the street were instantly killed, and one was so badly injured it had to be shot.
Several men were injured. Commander Gorman and a large number of the Fire Department and police were promptly on the spot.

Mrs. Hegman, who was in the art gallery, was killed instantly, and three others were wounded. Among the number of injured on the street from six to twelve. The killed already numbered at least ten. The killed already numbered number three, and the wounded seven.
The part of the building, which fell was mainly occupied as an art gallery. The pictures were loaned and were insured for $150,000 against fire alone, but as far as known, no against other accident. It is likely the pictures were as much injured as the building.

New York, April 21.—An alarm went through the city shortly before 10 o'clock to-night that the roof of Madison Square Garden had fallen and several persons killed or injured by the accident. It was soon learned that the entire wall fronting on Madison avenue, which is the front part of the garden, had fallen outward, covering several persons on the sidewalk.
A part of the roof had also fallen in, burying beneath it a number of persons. The garden was crowded to-night with visitors of the grand fair in aid of the Hahnemann Hospital. The fair has already been in progress several days and the building was filled with costly works of art and with articles of various sort which had been donated for sale. The front of the garden where the accident occurred, had been greatly changed in appearance, on account of the fair. A space of more than fifty feet in width had been partitioned off, and, by means of the floor, had been made into two stories, the lower one being used for office, reception hall and restaurant, and the upper story for a dancing hall.
The cause of the accident was supposed to be the pressure of the floor of the dancing hall and art gallery upon the wall which supported it.

Both these rooms were filled with people at an early hour this evening. Suddenly it was noticed that the floor of the gallery was cracking, and Albert McKay, manager of the fair, was summoned to the place. He mounted the stairs leading to the art gallery and noticed that the room was filled with ladies and gentlemen. Detective Tilly, who had been employed to watch the valuable pictures in the room, informed him that the walls were cracking in some places, and that there was danger of the floor giving way.
A large part of the roof which had been supported by the wall immediately fell in upon the heads of the frightened dancers, burying many of them out of sight.
Screams and groans were heard on every side, and a panic followed. A moment after the accident the floor of the dancing room settled, and there was a general stampede out upon the landing and down the stairs to the main part of the garden.
Those who were out of danger when the roof fell rushed forward to the front of the building and seriously impeded those who were trying to escape.
On the building the wildest excitement prevailed, and the streets were soon filled with excited people eagerly inquiring the extent of the disaster. It was some time before it could be learned how many persons had been injured. A large police force soon cleared the street in front of the garden. Alarms of fire were sent out, bringing several companies of firemen to assist in the work of rescuing the wounded.

Several persons were rescued from the ruins in a fainting condition, and carried to neighboring houses before the police could learn their names and the extent of their injuries. Almost the first person taken from the ruins was Mrs. William A.
Ogden Hedgman, of No. 9, West Thirtieth street, wife of a prominent lawyer, and a lady well known in New York society. She was believed to be dead, but the Chief Surgeon of the Police Department pronounced her still alive. She was carried away in a Bellevue Hospital ambulance.
Firemen were still at work on the ruins.
It was believed all the wounded had been removed, but it is feared some more lifeless bodies are still beneath the debris.

The loss by the accident, apart from the loss of life, is very great. The art gallery which was reduced to a mass of ruins, contained a large number of paintings, many of them of great value. The pictures alone were insured against fire for $150,000, and it is believed the insurance companies cannot be held for losses, as there was no fire. The loss is estimated at from $25,000 to $40,000.
The building is owned by William H.
Vanderbilt and insured against fire.

CITY OF HULL.
Fully One Half the City Destroyed by Fire—The Loss of Life.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 21.—Fully one-half the city of Hull is in ruins. The whole area of ground, composed of Church, Duke, Lake, Kent, Albion, Wellington, Charles, Central, Wright, Hanab, and several other streets, has been burned over. The heat was intense and the smoke so dense that the city was almost shrouded in darkness. The fire raged from 3:30 o'clock until 7, when the wind fur-tunately changed, and it was got under control. It is estimated that between 700 and 800 houses were destroyed, and over four thousand people homeless. Several lives are known to be lost, while reports are current that at least a dozen have perished. It is known positively that a woman named Latramonil was burned, also a man named Quillette. The woman was confined yesterday, and was unable to leave the house. Quillette was seen rushing from his blazing dwelling into the street, where he fell dead. He was terribly burned. Numerous accidents occurred the day of ground over which the fire traveled is a mile long by 400 yards wide. In numerous cases occupiers saved their furniture, which is piled in the streets. Horses, cows, and pigs, as well as other domestic animals perished. The property destroyed was mainly occupied by laborers.

There is very little insurance. Steps have been taken to relieve the distress.
Handsome contributions have already been raised, and to-morrow night the City Council of Hull and Ottawa will meet to take action in the matter. His Excellency the Governor General telegraphed to the Mayor of Hull signifying his willingness to assist in any way possible. The relief of the homeless thousands of people from this city visited the fire, and at one time there were but four members in the house.

The Governor General and Princess Louise were among the first to arrive, and remained for some time. Fortunately, one of the great lumbering mills were destroyed, although at one time they were in serious danger.

The loss is estimated at between $500,- 000 and $600,000.

TILDEN.
Feeling at Washington Among the Leading Democrats.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Tilden's friends in Washington are greatly pleased with his victory in New York. They speak of it unreservedly as a victory, and claim that he will either be nominated at Cincinnati or name the nominee. In other words, that he will rule the roost. It is said that he will rule Bayard, and that this gentleman therefore has no chance of getting the nomination. The opinion is gaining ground here constantly that Tilden will be nominated himself. Many Southern men say this will break the solid South and destroy the hope of the Democratic party, they fail to indicate how and by whom he is to be defeated at Cincinnati. Tilden's friends now claim New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Georgia, which will give him 172 votes to begin with, saying nothing of other States. His friends here are in high spirits and already giving out his nomination. They are less successful, however, in figuring out an election.

LA CROSSE.
LA CROSSE, April 21.—A few weeks ago a young man was burned to death in Sympleman, Wis. He procured beer from one Melchoir, and becoming intoxicated, set fire to some leaves in the woods and was burned to death. The relatives of the man lost in the fire, the lower one being used to-day procured the arrest of Melchoir, charging him with furnishing the beer and thus being responsible for the damage done. He appeared before a justice and was held in $5,000 to the Circuit Court.

SEVEN MEN DROWNED.
CHICAGO, April 21.—A Mackinaw, (Mich.) special says a report says a report just received, states that seven men who left Port St. Ignace in a sail boat to go up the north shore were all drowned during the gale last Monday. The bodies have not yet been discovered. Vessel men say it was the heaviest gale ever witnessed here.

GENERAL REVERE.
New York, April 21.—Gen. Joseph W.
Revere, grandson of the famous Paul Revere, and attached to the Pacific Squadron, which took possession of California, died yesterday, aged 65, of neuritis of the heart. Revere was the officer who first raised the American flag in California, north of San Francisco Bay. He commanded a brigade during the late war, and was in several important battles.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.
Lippincott's Magazine for May opens with a copiously illustrated paper on Richfield Springs, which, besides an attractive description of this much frequented watering place and much information that will be useful to all who think of spending part of the summer there, gives some interesting particulars about Fenimore Cooper and Judge Nelson, whose farms at Cooperstown lie within an easy drive from Richfield. A descendant of the famous novelist, Miss Constance Fenimore Woolson, contributes to this number a very quaint and touching story entitled Miss Grief. The first of a series of Studies in the Slums, by Mrs.
Helen Campbell gives a striking account of the mission in Water Street, New York.
These papers should receive attention from all who feel an interest in the great and indispensable work of redeeming the outcast population of our large cities. The concluding paper of Octave Thanet's able discussion of the condition of The English Workingman deals with another and not less pressing social problem. The Backwoods of Guatemala are graphically pictured with both pen and pencil in Dr. Oswald's Summerland sketches, which are now drawing to a close. Nena Sturges has an illustrated article on Ancient Masks and a charming account of a Funeral in a Chinese Fishing Village, and Paolo D. Natt describes the methods of instruction in the various "London Art Schools." There are several short stories, including a lively sketch of negro life by Jennie Woodville, "Adam and Eve," by the author of "Dorothy Fox," grows in interest and promises to prove a very popular serial; and the "Monthly Gossip" is full of good things, embracing reminis-cences of Charles Dickens and the Countess Ida Hahn-Hahn, with several short articles on social and literary topics. A poem by Longfellow will appear in the next number.

A LONDON ROMANCE.
Extraordinary Details of a Remarkable Breach of Promise Case.

Real life sometimes appears to suggest novels, but it is not so often that real life seems to be suggested by them. A striking example of the latter experience is, however at hand from London which bids fair to be something more than a nice day's wonder.
The story, so far, is an exact reproduction of the plot of a recent novel. The hero is a gentleman, rich and of a famous country family. He had been engaged for two years to a gentlewoman of position to whom he was thought to be tenderly attached. It was settled that the marriage was to take place a short time ago at the famous church of St. George's Hanover Square in London. The intended bridegroom justified the selection of the wedding dress of his betrothed. He likewise ordered the marriage cards and bought the ring.
Moreover, he bought a set of travelling trunks bearing his own initials stamped over those of the lady; and he even arranged with a caterer to supply the banquet on the night of the wedding.
Standing alone, the tale as hitherto related might leave all sorts of things to be surmised or hoped for. It might be conjectured that the unfortunate gentleman had been assassinated and his body thrown into the Thames. It might be imagined that he had been abducted and carried off somewhere to return at a dramatic moment as a critical moment. It might be supposed that some village beauty whom he had decided had dragged his tea, or that he had gone mad and been shut up in a lunatic asylum. But unhappily none of these explanations, any of which might have masculine honor or feminine pride, seems admissible in the light of succeeding events. The effort to conceal his deliberately broken suit for breach of promise of marriage, a step which plainly implies that the gentleman is known to be at hand to defend himself.
But how can he defend himself? London is agape with curiosity to hear how this momentous question is to be answered.
It is said and with force, that a gentleman of position does not behave in this way without having some reason or excuse for it. The suit for breach of promise was not begun without some previous attempt at an adjustment, and the course of the lady implies that she at least is not afraid of the revelations of a trial of the case may bring forth.
The lady has been told that she is to sue such a suit with the mother of a Mrs.
Burdell, nor on the other hand is a British guardian of family and wealth likely to be animated by the purposes imputed to the too seductive Pickwick. How far facts are to follow fiction in the ensuing history of this remarkable affair, and how far they are to assume an original type that shall serve as a pattern for fictions to come, will now be divulged; and as the case is set down for early trial, the eager world will not have to wait long to be enlightened.

Campanini, the Singer.
From the New York Mail.

The favorite tenor during the Autumn and Spring season just closing has sung 101 times in various operas. "Aida" numbering twenty-six performances, "Faust" twenty and other operas from two to five times each. Besides this record, he is to sing at the Boston and Cincinnati festivals in May. After the latter he will return to this city for a few days and on the 27th proceed to New York by the steamer Celtic for Liverpool to fill an engagement at the London Opera. Campanini, though received with favor everywhere, declares that his preference is for America and the American public. Like most foreigners, however, he will in time return to his native land, permanently. In his apartment he has a portrait of his mother, a picture of his father, and a clock of a date in the vicinity of Parma.
For several years to come, however, we may hope to have Campanini as the leading tenor of America. How splendidly he fills this position all our readers well know.
He will return to this country in the fall with the Napoleon troupe, and with him comes of great celebrity. The best roles of this season will be repeated, and the great novity of the campaign will be his Faust in the "Medeole" of Bontu.

TRIALS OF AN ENGAGED GIRL.
The Chaff and the Snubs to Which She is Subject—A Lover as a Nuisance.

Home Journal.
After all, the yoke of marriage is an apparatus that should sit on two pairs of shoulders, and there is nothing very solemn in seeing a girl wait to wear her own part of it until it has been nicely padded with quilted satin. Looking at the matter from less elevated point of view long engagements are rather tiresome in restricting the liberty of girls. Miss Jenny, who is going to marry Mr. Simpson as soon as that hop-ful young man gets a living, is obliged in the meantime to deny herself many pleasures, lest Simpson should take offense. She must eschew balls; she must take care that nobody makes love to her; and for this purpose she is obliged to let all chance comers be speedily informed of her engagement. Unhappily, the symbolism of rings is always ungarish, else the chance comers might discover the fact for themselves by looking at the second finger of Miss Jenny's left hand.
If Jenny has no sisters to talk of her betrothal, and if her mother does not accept trivially hints to mention it on every necessary occasion, or the engagement is not announced in the Home Journal, the girl is rather embarrassed for words, in which to convey the news delicately to strangers.
She cannot allude to Mr. Simpson as "Johnny"—that would be too familiar; she cannot speak of him as "Simpson," for this would sound strange; but if she refers to him frequently as "Mr. Simpson," strangers might draw undesirable inferences from her apparent familiarity with a person thus coldly specified. Then the engaged girl has to put up with a great deal of chaff, which is only pleasing for a while, and afterward becomes intolerable.
The trials of matrimony are frequently commended to her impatient attention by way of paternal rebuke: "Ah, my dear, you will find out that I am right when you are a wife yourself, and so forth; and a snub is but upon her too hastily used to consider herself free by the reminder that she is not married yet, and that there is many a slip between cup and lip. Sometimes Simpson is actually held up to her as a beguile: "My dear, I don't think Mr. Simpson would quite approve of your wearing that cherry ribbon." "Jenny, dear, I think Mr. Simpson would be sadly grieved if he heard you express those opinions." or, "Jenny, I am sure Mr. Simpson would not think it proper that you should play croquet with Captain Mallet." There is enough in all this to make a girl sit down and scream.

BRIEFLETS.

—Builders are busy.
—Millmen meet to-night.
—Prayers at the churches this evening.
—"Under the Gaslight" at the Opera house this evening.

—Howard Lee will leave Monday for Dakota, to look up a good site for business and a new home.

—Leslie Treat, son of Dr. R. B. Treat, arrived in the city yesterday. Of late he has been in the far West.

—We are favored by E. F. Welch with several copies of Leadville papers, filled to the brim with news of the far west.

—Will G. DeWitt, of the Appleton Crescent, and Howard Richmond, also of Appleton, were in the city to-day.

—All teachers in the city and vicinity are invited to attend the Omnibus Sociable at the Baptist church to-morrow evening.
—Every member of the Bower City Rifles should read with care the notice given in another column. It may save them money to remember this.

—William Menzies, of the town of Harmony, who was so badly injured by a horse kicking him, was in the city to-day, and looks as if he was good for many years yet.

—Prof. Farrar, of Milwaukee, will give an exhibition of art views, in Cannon's hall next Friday evening. Admission only twenty-five cents and children ten cents.

—The old Bennett building which has been bought by C. T. Wilcox, started on its journey this morning, its landing place to be the corner of Dodge and River streets.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Burton will be pleased to receive the friends of Miss Ella S. Carle, their guest, at their residence on Harmony street, this evening between 7 o'clock and 10 o'clock.

—Justice Brooks is still busy with a tobacco case. A jury of six are weighing the evidence, and Attorneys Norcross, Hyzer and Doe on one side and Attorney Fethers on the other side.

—Mrs. Little has returned from Oberlin, O., where she has been attending her mother, who has been high unto death. She has however, so far recovered as to allow of Mrs. Little leaving her, to return to her duties at the Institution for the Blind.

—John Ehringer has purchased of Bradley & Metcalf, through R. L. Colvin, who acted as their agent in the matter, two lots on Bluff street, near North Second street, on which Mr. Ehringer intends to build a plow factory at some future time.

—C. C. Minor, showed us another of his excellent crayon pictures to-day. It was a portrait of the late George D. Prentice, which he has made for Mr. Wakeman, the manager of the northern office of the Courier-Journal. It is an artistic piece of work, and reflects great credit upon Mr. Minor.

—We are in receipt of a very dainty and attractive pocket manual and guide, showing up the beauties of the Tremont house, Chicago, together with railroad time tables etc., all arranged in very neat shape. The Tremont merits all the praise that is given it, and fully comes up to all that its proprietor, Mr. John A. Rice, claims for it.

—This morning William Hart, a young man who runs Marshall's old saloon, was brought before Justice Nolan to answer to a charge of assaulting Albert Williams, the colored man who claimed to have been robbed some months ago, and who sprang into notoriety at that time. Williams in the present case, charged no robbery, but simply that he had been shoved out of the saloon in an unceremonious manner. The evidence, unfortunately for him, showed that he was the offender, and Hart was discharged. Hart then had William arrested for using abusive language. Williams pleaded guilty, and was fined $1 and costs. He hadn't the cash, and in default was given ten days in jail.

—Mr. Gary Calkins and Miss Ida Loring, both of whom lived in Janesville some years ago, were married in Chicago last Tuesday evening. The ceremony took place in the Grace Methodist church, and a reception followed at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Robert Shepherd, whose husband is the pastor of Grace church. The affair was a brilliant one throughout, the arrangements being elaborate, the presents many and elegant, and the gathering of friends large and dresty. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins started on the evening train for an extended trip through the East, but will make their home in Chicago. They have many friends here who will unite with their other friends in wishing them as bright and happy a future as now seems promised them.

—Elegant Accommodations, lowest prices. Astor House, N. Y.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTISS & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 70 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 52 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 46 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 51 degrees above. Cloudy.

One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 64, 49, 47, and 82 degrees above;
The indications to-day are for the upper lake region, in the southern portions warmer, southwest winds, increasing cloudiness, possibly occasional rains, and falling barometer, but in the northern portions, northwest winds, colder cloudy weather, and stationary, or rising, possibly followed by falling barometer.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES.
The Florence Herbert combination drew a larger audience last evening at the Opera house than on any previous night, which is a very satisfactory way for the public to express its appreciation of the endeavors of the company to entertain and amuse. The old play "The Two Orphans" was given, and in such an excellent manner that it seemed fresh and new. The cast was excellent, and the several roles were carried out in a most artistic manner. There is a good deal of talent in the troupe, and in no way is it shown more clearly than by the variety of work which each member is called upon to perform, in order to make a successful week's engagement with a change of play every evening. The company will to-night appear in the sensational play "Under the Gaslight," and the bold which they have already gained on the public favor, will doubtless cause the house to be filled.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Election of Officers, and Transaction of Other Business.

The Board of Education met last evening, and the new members took their seats, so that the Board as now constituted, consists of the following Commissioners:

At Large—Stanley B. Smith.
First Ward—James Shearer.
Second Ward—C. L. Valentine.
Third Ward—W. D. Hastings.
Fourth Ward—Isaac Farnsworth.
Fifth Ward—B. J. Daly.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the choice of S. B. Smith as President, and James Shearer as Clerk. The Board is formed of most excellent timber, and the educational interests are placed in the hands of men who are not only interested in the prosperity of the city schools, but who are in all respects competent to perform the duties devolving upon them, and our citizens may well congratulate themselves on having chosen such men.

The Board made some changes in the corps of teachers last evening. Miss Barker, who was appointed teacher of the Second Primary in the Central District, sent in her resignation which was accepted, and Miss Carrie Riker, was appointed to fill that position.

Miss Noyes, of Whitewater, was appointed as Second Assistant at the High School.

MAY DAY.

It Will Be Observed by Burr Robbins Opening the Season—What May Be Expected.

Everybody is looking forward with eager expectation to the opening exhibition of Burr Robbins' great show, which is to be given in this city May 1. Of course all who live in the city will swarm out, and there will be a rush from the surrounding country. The billboards were decorated at a late hour last night, the paper having arrived on the evening train, and to-day the bright pictures and big promises are being scanned eagerly. There is some satisfaction in looking at them, for it is well known that Burr Robbins never makes the show on the billboards any greater than the show under canvas. All of the printed promises are always more than met. The terrible injuries which Mr. Robbins has suffered, have not caused any weakening of the show, and it was never so full of attractive features as now. The menagerie and museum are crowded with fresh wonders gathered from all parts of the world, and the scenic performances will form a more pleasing and exciting exhibition than in any previous season. No pains or expense have been spared in engaging the best artists to be secured in the whole country, and in fact every department and feature of the great enterprise has received careful, special attention, so that the public will be more than gratified at the improvement even over last year.

The street parade in the morning of that day will be a show of pageantry which will be worth travelling many a mile to see. Mr. Robbins expects to head the procession himself, and his many friends will be rejoiced to see him again in public. It is to be hoped that the day may be so propitious as to allow the people to turn out en masse and give Mr. Robbins such an ovation, in this his own home, as shall fully express the public appreciation of his worth as a citizen and his interest which all take in an enterprise which has its headquarters here, and which is not only a benefit to the city and country, but one of which all may well feel proud, and to whose success all should gladly contribute in every way possible.

You will find one of the best stocks of Clothing for Men, Youth and Boys' wear that you ever saw. Taking Horace's advice I went west just one point, New Store and New Goods and a Sky Light that just gives more —well Edison's Electric Light is no where. Oh, it's a corker, I assure you. Well, the fact is, I am selling just as cheap as ever. Better made and trimmed goods do not lie on any man's counter north of Mason and Dixon's Line. We ask one price for goods, and that down to bed rock every time. I did not say very much about moving; I was afraid some of the boys would want to help me. I am all moved and settled; all through house cleaning and ready for business. Come in and you shall have full value for your money. Our Custom Department never was in better shape, all the new and nobby goods of the season. Suits made to measure, $23, $25, $27.50, $30, $33 and $35. Three Doors from the Post-Office.
